Education-Business Day October 29

Fifty-four Greater Cincinnati schools will have "open house" October 29, the sixth annual Education-Business Day. The open house is sponsored by the public and parochial schools of Hamilton County and the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce. About 700 business and industrial leaders will visit the schools to learn their problems, programs and policies.

An all-day institute on "Non-Violent Action to End Racial Discrimination" including talks by the Rev. David H. Brooks, Yale University, and A. J. Moore, national officer of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, will be held Saturday at the First Christian Church, under auspices of the Cincinnati F.R.I. and the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

Robert E. L. Young, chief counsel of the Legal Aid Society of Cincinnati, will deliver a paper on "Legal Aid and the Law Student," from the viewpoint of a Legal Aid Society, at a 14th Conference in Miami Beach, Fla., from through Friday. Proceedings of providing counsel for indigent people developed with time will be one of the principal subjects.

Food Inspected

The City Health Department has started the second phase of its annual inspection of the city's food establishments. The Carl A. Winkler, City Health Commissioner, reported yesterday. Twenty-three inspectors visited restaurants and other eating places. Now they are inspecting nearly 8000 meat markets, bakeries, food manufacturing plants, fish and poultry stores, confectioneries and various other establishments where food is prepared, packaged or sold. Orders to close up will be issued wherever grossly unsanitary conditions are found. Dr. Winkler said. Failure to comply may result in the withholding of a license to be used.
